Plans Complete for Festive Fourth

Dixon Stage is Set For Day-Long List of Holiday Thrills

Lowell Park Program Runs Until 5 p. m.; Fireworks 10 p. m.

Final plans have been completed and the stage is set in Dixon for one of the biggest 4th of July celebrations ever held in this area.

Commencing at 10 a. m. with children's events at the north end of Lowell park, the program will run continuously at the park until 5 p. m. and will be concluded with the gigantic fireworks display at 10 p. m. in Dixon.

Great Sports Program

On the schedule of full day events at Lowell park will be everything from running races and swimming to boat races and band concerts. Horseshoe pitching, amateur entertainment and ball games between the Dixon Junior American Legion and the Sterling Junior American Legion, together with the Barrick Steers and the Ashton All Stars, will also attract visitors to the park.

Exciting Speed Displays

Sparky Campbell, who has served as chairman of the boat races ,announced that two additional classes have been opened for entries in the water events. The newly added classes are 4 and 7½ h. p. Mr. Campbell also pointed out today that dozens of boats have been entered in the races and urged all boat enthusiasts who have not registered to report at the park before 2:30 p. m.

Room For Contestants

Although dozens of entries have been received for the amateur contest, there is still room for more contestants and application should be made at the band stand in the park before 11 a. m. Professional experience is not necessary and anyone who would care to compete in singing, dancing, specialty acts, hog calling contests or on any musical instrument will be welcome in this portion of the program Liberal cash prizes will be awarded to the winners.

Bubble Gum Arena

One of the most spectaculars events to be added to the program by Harold Cook is the bubble gum contest. According to Cook, he has a sufficient supply of this balloon-making material to test the powers

Mt. Morris Woman Killed, Three Hurt In Oregon Accident

Robert Tate, Dixon, Two Others Seriously Hurt In Head-On Crash

(Telegraph Special Service)

Oregon—A Mt. Morris woman, mother of four children, was instantly killed, and three other persons, including Robert C. Tate, 37, 611 East Bradshaw street, Dixon, were seriously injured when a car and a light panel truck collided head-on two miles south of here on route 2, shortly before 5 p. m. yesterday.

The dead woman was Mrs. Walter Blake, 29, driver of the car. Injured in addition to Tate were Mrs. Eugene Beck, 47, Oregon, and Melvin D. Bendon, 26, whose address was listed as Hotel Royse, Canton, Ill.

Report Slight Improvement

Ogle county Sheriff Joseph Maas reported at noon today that Mrs. Beck and the two men had rallied slightly this morning, but were still in serious condition.

Officials at Warmolts clinic, where the injured were taken after the accident, were still unable to determine the extent of their injuries this morning because none of the three had regained consciousness. Authorities said, however, that Bendon and Tate were probably suffering from possible skull fractures as well as bad lacerations.

Mrs. Beck, in serious condition, was also suffering from severe lacerations.

The two women were driving north on route 2, Mrs. Blake taking Mrs. Beck to her job as a cook in an Oregon tavern, while the men were driving south in a truck owned by the Blackhawk

All Time Record in Traffic Jams Comes Over This Weekend

(By The Associated Press)

A near record high travel on a peacetime holiday as indicated for the three-day Fourth of July holiday as millions of Americans finished plans today for trips by autos, bus, plane and railroad.

Spokesmen for many roalroads, airlines and bus companies reported record reservations and many were adding all available extra equipment to meet the heavy demand.

In addition, millions of motorists will hit the highways to parks, beaches and outing places. The national safety council estimated that 30 million cars will be on the highways over the three days, causing the biggest traffic jam in history. The council also predicted that 275 persons will be killed in traffic accidents over the holiday period.

Generally Fair Weather

A forecast of generally fair weather for most of the nation was an added incentive for travel.

A survey across the country disclosed that in the larger cities an extra heavy flow of traffic is expected, with some transportation companies preparing for their heaviest weekend since the war time, when the travel was at its peak.

In Chicago most railroads said they expected a record peacetime crowd of travelers; airlines were booked solid and bus lines anticipated space demands "as great as any we've had in the past, including the war years'..

New York city's grand central terminal expected the "biggest holiday volume ever" tomorrow, exceeding the peak of 241,000 handled the day before last Thanksgiving.

Reports from several other sections of the country were similar —from Seattle, New Orleans, Dallas, Tex., Atlanta, Miami, Minneapolis, Detroit and Boston.

Corn at Record $2.05; Oats at Seasonal Top

Chicago, July 3—(AP)—July corn futures today pushed to another all-time peak of $2.05 a bushel, and July oats hit a new seasonal top of $1.00⅞. Although corn and oats were strong, wheat was weak throughout and lost almost 3 cents at times.

Democrats Claim 2nd Tax Reduction Bill To Get Speedy Veto

Senate Might Override Another Truman Veto, Insiders Report

By JACK BELL

Washington, July 3 —(AP)— Democrats predicted today that a presidential veto awaits the carbon-copy tax reduction bill which Republicans have scheduled for quick congressional passage.

Doubt arose, meanwhile, that the senate would override a second presidential objection.

Senator Hatch (D-NM) told a reporter that he does not see how Mr. Truman could accept a measure identical — save for the effective date — to a bill he said last month provided the "wrong kind of tax reduction at the wrong time".

Hatch, whose words were echoed privately by several other party members, said he does not, however, know the president's intentions.

The Republican leadership of both houses is in agreement on changing the bill to make it effective next January 1, instead of putting the tax cuts into operation last Tuesday as under the original measure.

But these leaders stood pat against any change in its terms, from 30 per cent in the lowest brackets to 10½ per cent in the highest, for the nation's income taxpayers.

Committee Action Planned

Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.) called the house ways and means committee together (9 a. m. CDT) for speedy action on the measure. Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) forecast its passage by the house next Tuesday.

Chairman Taft (Ohio) of the senate Republican policy committee said it probably will be taken up in the senate late next week after action on a pending bill to unify the armed forces.

The Republican decision to "take another shot at the tax bill", as House Majority Leader Halleck (R-Ind.) put it, was made in the face of doubt as to the senate's action on a possible veto.

A Democratic stragegist who asked not to be quoted by name said a preliminary check indicated the veto might be sustained. He predicted that some senators who have been advocating a community property provision in the bill will not vote to override if this is not added to the measure.

From North Bank

Due to the condition of the island between the bridges in Dixon, Lyle Melvin, chairman of the fireworks committee, announced today that the display will be held on the north bank of the river in the same location. Everyone is urged to see the demonstration from either bridge or from the south banks. Melvin pointed out that no one will be allowed on the north banks between the bridges, inasmuch as the committee in charge has taken all precaution to prevent injury to onlookers.

Invite 22 Nations For Paris Confab On Economic Plan

Russia, Spain, Germany Notable Exceptions; Report Due Sept. 1

Paris, July 3 — (AP) — The French foreign office announced today that 22 nations will be invited to a meeting in Paris, July 12 to discuss European economic cooperation as outlined in the Marshall proposal.

Notable exceptions are Soviet Russia, Spain and Germany.

A French foreign office spokesman said it was proposed to have a first report on European needs and ability for self-help ready by Sept. 1.

The countries invited will include Austria, Turkey, Albania, Ireland and all former enemy states except Germany, it was announced. A foreign office spokesman said the invitations would be sent to Paris embassies tonight.

Invite All But Spain

The French foreign ministry announced earlier a British-French decision to invite all European states, "with the provisional exception of Spain," to take part in drafting a reply to the proposal advanced by U. S. Secretary of State Marshall for European economic recovery.

The communique called on the European countries to "draw up a European reconstruction program in which the resources and needs of each country will be coordinated, in a manner that each of the European countries will so decide freely."

The communique made no reference to Soviet Russia, nor to the failure yesterday of Russia, Britain and France to agree on

Farley Tells How Roosevelts Third Term Caused Split

Washington, July 3.—(AP)—James A. Farley said today his split with Franklin D. Roosevelt became final in the summer of 1940 when the president decided to run for a third term.

A year earlier, Farley said, Roosevelt had told him he would not do so.

The former Democratic national chairman and postmaster general told of his "showdown with the boss" in the fourth of a series of articles in Collier's. The conference took place at Hyde Park, N. Y., sometime before the July Democratic convention.

The talk drifted to vice presidential candidates and Roosevelt was quoted as saying: "The man running with me must be in good health because there is no telling how long I can hold out. You know, Jim, a man with paralysis can have a breakup any time. While my heart and lungs are good and the other organs functioning along okay . . . nothing in this life is certain."

Farley said he told the president he would resign as a protest against a third term. He finally set Sept. 1 to leave the cabinet and party chairmanship.

Indict Three Men for Unregistered Weapons

Chicago, July 3—(AP)—Three Joliet, Ill., men have been indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of illegal possession of un-registered sub-machine guns.

The men, named yesterday, were Luther C. Voight, 23, a laborer; John M. Boyden, 49, Negro owner of a dental laboratory; and Sam Olarge, 51, a Negro who gave his address as the dental laboratory.

Bernard Sokol, assistant U. S. attorney, said Voight related that he found two guns in a package he fished out of the Calumet river after he saw Boyden throw it in.

Seizure of the three followed an indictment of Andrew Carter, 51, Negro employe of Boyden, on a similar charge. Carter was arrested by Peoria police. They found he had a third sub-machine gun in his possession.

Sokol said Carter told agents he had obtained the gun from Olarge who said he had received it from an unidentified soldier.

TO DISPLAY FLAGS

Mayor Fred Hofmann today requested all business houses as well as residences to display flags Friday, July Fourth.

Lewis Closing in on Best UMW Wage Pact in History

Tentative Agreement is Based on 44½ Cent Hourly Increase

By HAROLD W. WARD

Washington, July 3—(AP) — John L. Lewis is well on the way today toward getting the best wage contract in the history of his United Mine Workers—who otherwise might extend their current vacation into a full-blown strike next Tuesday.

The way some operators figure the tentative settlement reached late yesterday by Lewis and top executives of "big steel" mine owners and northern commercial producers, the soft coal diggers will get a 44½ cent boost in their basic hourly pay rate.

The "pattern" increases negotiated by rival CIO unions in other basic industries earlier this year have been around 15 cents an hour.

The big question remaining, however, is:

How many mining companies will accept the agreement?

The midwest, far west and southern mine owners—left out of the secret, top-level settlement negotiations—went into hurried huddles to map their strategy before the UMW policy committee assembles here Saturday.

Government last Monday turned back to private ownership the mines seized 13 months ago, thus forcing the operators and union to come to terms themselves on provisions of the proposed compact. It was widely conceded that Lewis had won a sweeping victory from Presidents Benjamin F. Fairless of U. S. Steel corporation and George Humphrey of the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal company.

Terse News Announcement

This terse announcement late yesterday nailed down actual hopes of averting a crippling bituminous shutdown:

"Negotiators for northern commercial coal operators and the captive mines, together with representatives of the United Mine Workers, announce that a tentative agreement in principle has been reached subject to the terms of a written contract and subject to the approval of the parties."

Even then the other operators said they were not aware of the full significance of the prospec-

Use U. S. Balkans Plan or Throw in Towel, U. N. Told

Lake Success, July 3—(AP)—Britain told the United Nations today that they might as well "tear up the charter and pack up" if they could not settle the Balkans trouble as recommended by the United States.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate, lining up solidly with the United States proposal for a commission to watch the Balkans indefinitely, said in a statement to the security council:

"If we cannot apply proposals such as those submitted by the commission (the Balkan investigation commission) and now in the United States resolution, we had better tear up the charter—and pack up."

Cadogan referred to the recommendations by the investigating group and the United States proposal for the security council to set up a commission to remain indefinitely in the Balkans and try to smooth the differences in that unsettled zone.

"It seems to me here we have a danger point," Cadogan continued. "It is just such a case as the United Nations was designed to meet. We have practical proposals, which can perhaps be perfected and elaborated. We must try them."

The security council embarked last week on what promises to be a long and bitter debate on the commission's report, in which a majority of the 11 members decided that Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria were mainly responsible for the Balkan disorders.

Warren R. Austin, chief U. S. delegate, charged in a sharp speech last Friday that Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania were causing the trouble, but those countries have denied both the commission and Austin's accusation.

Ex-Congressman Is Convicted Selling His War-Time Drag

Munitions Makers Garssons Also Convicted; Will Appeal Case

Washington, July 3—(AP) — Ex-Congressman Andrew J. May was convicted today of selling his influence while wartime chairman of the house military committee.

A federal court jury also convicted munition makers Henry and Murray Garsson of paying the 72-year-old former congressman more than $50,000 in bribes for favors during the war years.

The three defendants received the verdict calmly. All had relatives near them in the court room.

Made Quick Verdict

The jury deliberated only an hour and 50 minutes before reaching its verdict, climax of a trial that lasted 11 weeks.

Announcement of the verdicts, however, was delayed more than 20 minutes while court officials were assembled.

Foreman George E. Wells solemnly answered "guilty" to each of the three counts in the indictment, which charged that May took money for interceding at the war department for the $70,000,000 Garsson munitions combine.

In response to a defense request, each of the seven men and five women jurors was polled on his decision.

Each juror replied "guilty" to each of the three counts against each of the three defendants.

Sentence Is Deferred

The court deferred sentence until later to give the defense an opportunity for appeal motions.

The maximum penalty would be a sentence of six years in prison and $30,000 fine.

Charles J. Margiotti, head of the defense counsel, said he would appeal within five days.

At that time, he told the court, he will file a motion for a judgment of acquittal, irrespective of the jury's decision, a motion for arrested judgment, and a motion for a new trial.

Margiotti's request was granted and trial Justice Henry A. Schweinhaut said that ball for the defendants will be contin-

Mississippi Flood Damages Estimated at $500 Millions

Battle Between Man and River Continuing in St. Louis Today

Grand Tower, Ill., July 3 —(AP) — The fight between man and river continued unabated south of St. Louis today in an effort to save remaining levees while army engineers and soil conservators estimated flood damage along the raging Mississippi and its overflowing tributaries in Missouri, Iowa and Illinois to be at least $500,000,000.

H. R. Musser, regional conservator for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, said at Milwaukee that a survey compiled from field office reports and aerial reconnaissance showed that enough soil had been washed downriver to cover 325,000 acres six inches deep.

Meanwhile, at St. Louis, the River fluctuated between the 103-year high of 40.3 and one tenth of a foot less. Harry F. Walhgren, U. S. meterologist, said a gradual decline was expected in the next 48 hours. High water from the Missouri and Illinois river was keeping the Mississippi high, he added.

Grand Tower itself was cut off from land following breaks in the Degognia levee and several other communities were partially inunadated. A small section of the Chester, Ill., business district was under water.

Food supplies were being brought here by boat and most of the 1,000 residents expected to remain since most of the town was located on high enough ground to escape the river.

Dupo Wins Fight

Residents of Dupo, Ill., eight miles southeast of St. Louis, apparently had won their fight to save the town from the flood water. Army engineers ordered the 2,300 residents out of town Tuesday but many persons returned,

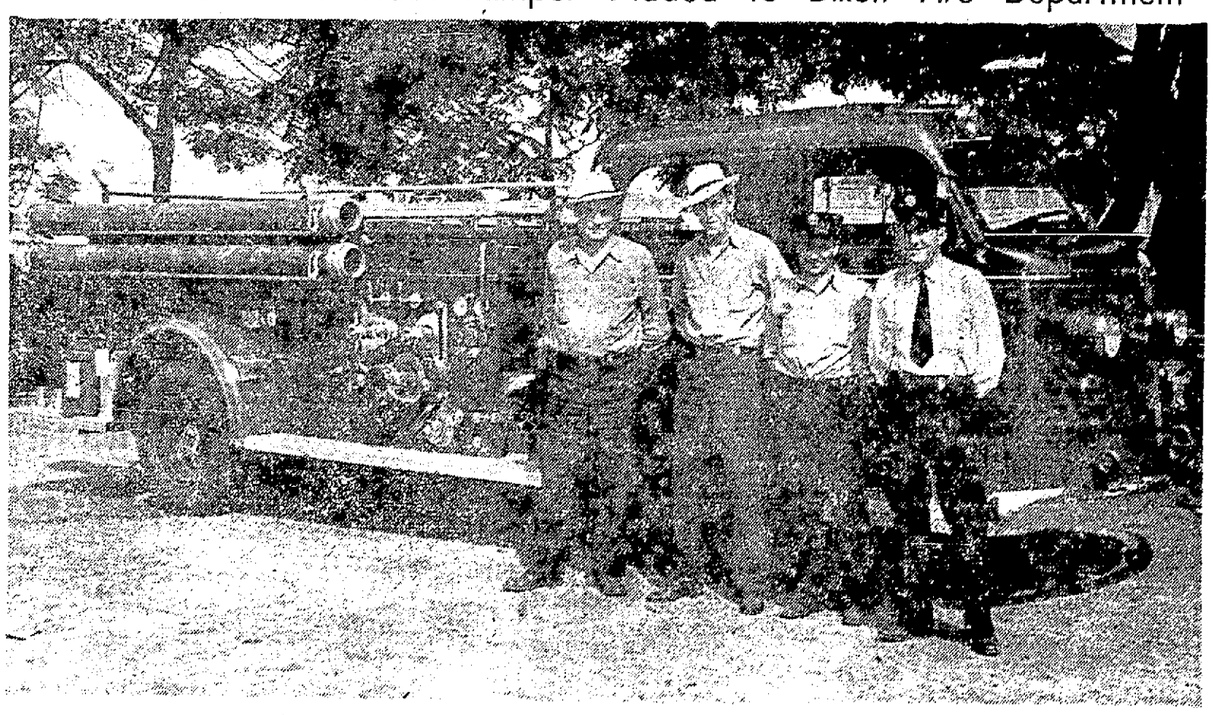
Fine Modern Fire Truck Pumper Added to Dixon Fire Department



Dixon's new stream-lined 1,000-gallon pumper fire truck built by the American LaFrance Co., at Elmira, N. Y., as it was about to begin a series of instructional tests today. Standing alongside the cab which accomodates five firemen are from left to right: William Cinnamon, Patrick Dunphy, Chester Stangeland and Fire Chief Albert Fordyce.

Dixon's new $10,780 fire truck was unloaded late yesterday afternoon after Glenn Parrish, American LaFrance Co., engineer from the factory at Elmira, N. Y., arrived in Dixon to superintend the task. Several hundred citizens viewed the 1,000-gallon stream-lined pumper in the fire department last evening and others were continuing the inspection today. Fire Chief Albert Fordyce has invited any citizens to inspect the new piece of equipment at any hour of the day or early evening within the next few days.

The manufacturer's representative started a course of instruction at the fire department today when all of the members were present to learn the operations of the new truck. Additional instruction and demonstrations will be held before the truck is formally accepted by the city commission.

Because of the Fourth of July holiday, next Wednesday has been set for the date of the official inspection by underwriter's representatives, members of the city council and a large number of visiting firemen. Chief Fordyce is sending out 200 invitations to firemen in this section of the state who will be invited to view the new truck while in action Wednesday afternoon of next week.

The new truck will replace the 20-year old pumper which will still be in service after the acceptance of the latest addition. The old truck is to be given a general overhauling, treated to a new coat of paint and be placed in emergency use. The new truck which is of the latest pattern and design, providing cab space for five firemen, is delivered with many pieces of new equipment and consirable additional ladder footage.

Woman, 82, Killed, Daughter Injured Near Rock Falls

Sterling, July 3—Mrs. Anna C. Wyne, 82, of 417 Ellis street, Peoria, was almost instantly killed and her daughter, Miss Jeanette Wyne, 58, was painfully injured in an automobile accident which occurred on state route 88, seven miles south of Rock Falls at 10:30 today. The two ladies were en route from Peoria to Sterling to spend the Fourth of July week end visiting with their son and brother, F. P. Wyne, president of the Franz Mfg. Co.

Lieut. Ray Cramer and Officer Frank Kiner of the state highway police force who investigated the accident, reported that a tire blew out on the car, causing it to roll over several times and land in a ditch alongside the highway. An ambulance removed Miss Wyne to the Sterling public hospital and the body of her mother was taken to the Melvin funeral home in Sterling where an inquest will be conducted later.

Hungarians' Gold Saved by U. S. for Our "Allies", Reds

Americans Hustled Load of $35,000,000 Back For Hungarians

By HAL BOYLE

New York, July 3 —(AP)—The new Communist custodians of ancient Hungary took over a country rescued from financial chaos by a $35,000,000 train ride with Uncle Sam at the throttle.

The followers of the hammer and sickle, now in power, have conveniently overlooked that little detail, but some among the Hungarian masses must remember.

It was right out of a Hollywood script—that train ride last August that saved Hungary from total collapse by the timely return of its entire gold reserve—22 tons of the precious metal.

I was the only reporter aboard the train, and I'd like to tell a few angles about the trip that weren't pointed out at the time.

Captured by Third Army

The Hungarian government's store of gold had been captured by the American Third army in Austria, and removed to Frankfurt for safekeeping. When the Hungarian pengo soared to fantastic inflationary levels, it became that only solid money could save the country. The American government agreed to return the Hungarian gold reserve to back a new currency—the florin.

The hope was that by this act America could keep "a window open to the west" in this Russian-occupied nation.

The gold was loaded aboard three baggage cars at Frankfurt. There was a kind of victory symbolism in the train itself. It had been built by Adolf Hitler as a present for Benito Mussolini but taken over by the fuehrer for his own use after he decided his Italian ally no longer deserved expensive favors.

Grateful To Americans

There were 33 American military guards aboard the train. Several times during the journey Dr. Nicolas Nyardi, then an undersecretary in the Hungarian ministry of finance, went into the baggage cars to be sure the gold hadn't fallen out on the tracks. He was still dazed that every ounce was being returned.

"We are very grateful to the American government", he said. "This is the first step toward Hungary's reconstruction".

Our trip was supposed to be a deep secret, but once we crossed the Hungarian border crowds lined the train at every station. They knew that the gold we brought again would give them a money that had meaning.

Russians Delays Train

But at one way stop a middle-aged Hungarian asked us:

"Why are you bringing back our gold now? You are only handing it over to the Russians".

We assured him that the gold would be turned over to the Hungarian government itself, not to occupying Soviet officials, and he merely shrugged and said:

"No matter who you deliver it to, the Russians will get it out through the back door".

No Return Trip Delays

The train was repeatedly delayed by the Russian engineer who had taken over at the border. He gave no reason for the halts. We reached Budapest at dusk, several hours behind schedule.

And Communist newspapers in the capital in inspired articles immediately told the Hungarian population that only strong Soviet pressure had brought return of the gold reserve.

The happy Hungarians threw us a party and gave everybody a bundle of the vanished pengoes as souvenirs. Then we went right back where we came from—and there were no train delays on the way out.

Well, anyway it was a nice ride, the scenery was lovely and now the Hungarian communist government has 22 tons of pure capitalistic gold in its proletarian treasury. But they sure drew down the shade on the window looking west.

Cat With $5,000 Bank Roll Dies of Old Age

Sacramento, Calif., July 3 —(AP)— Lilly, the alley cat which spent the last nine years in a private cage eating such delicacies as crabmeat, turkey and cream provided by a $5,000 expense account, is dead.

The end came from old age in a pet hospital. There was no fancy burial, however, as Lilly's bank account ran out six months ago. Her last earthly expenses totaled $15—including consignment to a crematorium by attendants who cared for her during the last six days.

Lilly came to public attention in January, 1938 when her spinster mistress, Miss Annie Hansche, died and left $5,000 in her will for the cat's upkeep.

Lilly stayed in Sacramento, entrusted to Mrs. Gertrude A. Bidwell, who admitted, however, "it's not always a simple matter to care for a cat like Lilly".

WOODPECKER SURGEONS

Woodpeckers act as tree surgeons to the giant cactus. They clean out the decayed interiors in searching for insect larvae, and the injury then heals over.

An Englishman, W. Greener, invented the first modern cartridge in 1835, but the British government turned it down as impractical.

Mattoon Man Guilty in Kansas Murder Trial

Olathe, Kas., July 3 —(AP)— Frank L. Baker, 21, Mattoon, Ill., was convicted by a District court jury Tuesday of murdering Lloyd L. Sutton near here on June 6, 1945. The jury recommended life imprisonment.

Baker, extradited from Alabama where he was serving a 30-year sentence for armed robbery, and James E. Arnold of Overland Park, Kas., were picked up by Sutton in his automobile on June 6, 1945 near Overland Park. Sutton's body was found near Pleasantville, Kas., two days later.

Arnold was convicted last month in a separate trial by a jury which also recommended life imprisonment. His attorneys have filed an appeal, and Baker's counsel have until July 8 to file motion for a new trial.

Both Baker and Arnold were in the army at the time of the slaying.

Woman Slashes Boy's Tongue; Goes to Jail

Falconer, N. Y., July 3 —(AP) — A 47 year old woman who admitted she seized a seven-year-old boy's tongue with pliers in an effort to force an admission that he misplaced a baseball bat was sentenced Wednesday to 10 months in the county penitentiary.

Mrs. Agnes Smith, mother of five, was sentenced on her plea of guilty to a charge of third degree assault resulting from injuries to Richard Griffin, one of a truck driver's four children who had been boarded with her. Mrs. Smith also was accused of using a knife on the boy's tongue.

Governor Green Signs Bills to Make Them Laws

Springfield, Ill., July 3 —(AP) — Governor Green signed into law his housing and slum clearance program providing for government acquisition and resale of land for redevelopment projects by private enterprise.

Under the $20,000,000 plan, monies will be distributed by the state housing board on the basis of need to local land clearance commissions when funds are matched by local contributions. Some of the state funds will be distributed to housing authorities on a population basis.

The program also provides state financial aid for housing to accomodate persons displaced by redevelopment projects.

The governor signed nine appropriation bills totaling more than $205,600,000. The largest item was $116,022,256 for the division of highways. Another earmarks $925,000 for improvements at state parks.

Other measures among the 39 signed today by the governor:

Require safety education classes in public schools in grades one to nine.

Authorize the state highway department to relocate highways under its control.

Eliminate the word "teachers" from the name of Western Illinois State Teachers college, Macomb.

Authorize cities to operate parking lots.

Extend Illinois' participation in the interstate oil compact to Sept. 1949.

Permit the state labor director to name a commissioner of unemployment compensation.

Filipino Puppet Sues U. S. for Documents

Manila, July 3 —(AP)— Jorge B. Vargas, first chief of the Japanese-sponsored puppet administration in the occupied Philippines, yesterday sued the United Army for the return of documents, books and other papers allegedly taken from him in Japan at the end of the war.

Vargas said the documents included the last letters of instruction sent to him in Manila by the late President Manuel Quezon on Corregidor, telling him what to do when the city fell a few days later.

He said the latter included orders to commit acts for which he now is under indictment.

An Army spokesman said some of Vargas' papers were in army custody. He added that up to late afternoon, no court notification of the suit had been received.

Rescued Child's Health Amazes Mountaineers

Lassen National Park, Calif., July 3—(AP)—Hardy little Greta Mary Gale appeared to be in excellent condition . . . . so healthy indeed, that veteran mountaineers were amazed that she could have been lost 48 hours in this rugged area.

The two-and-a-half year old toddler, granddaughter of former Congressman John H. Tolan of California, was at the Westwood hospital, under observation after being found by searchers on a boulder-strewn slope of Mt. Harkness—only a mile from the Tolan summer cabin.

The child was wearing nothing but panties when found by Francis W. Keeler, state lion hunter. The temperature had dropped to 25 degrees during the two nights in which more than 300 searchers combed the area and additional hundreds were being recruited.

The joy attending the child's rescue was mingled with sorrow. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Gale, Jr., of Oakland, made arrangements for the funeral of Tolan—who died Monday of a heart attack resulting from the shock of his granddaughter's disappearance.

Services for the 70-year-old former congressman are to be conducted Saturday in Oakland.

a design for good living

A traveler crossing northern Illinois might consider our town just another attractive community . . . one of a string of towns that dot the region. It's too bad these travelers don't linger a little longer and get to know the personality, history and congenial atmosphere found here.

America is just beginning to rediscover the advantages of living in a small town. Our fathers and grandfathers appreciated these advantages many years ago when they made the choice between settling here or in large cities. Most of us have been taking these advantages pretty much for granted but lately as "city" people settle here and we see their open approval of our way of life, we appreciate our town more than ever.

Books, magazine articles and radio speakers are now praising the life in towns like ours. They talk of the "elbow room", the economic advantages, and the healthful living conditions. They praise the way we spend our leisure. In the summer we have ball games, picnics and tennis . . . fishing and swimming . . . festivals and fairs. In the fall and winter we go ice skating, sleigh riding and hunting . . . right at our back door. These, too, are all good reasons for liking our town. But they're not the only reasons that really tie us here.

It's the security and sense of "belonging" that comes with life-long friendships, working together for civic progress and knowing nearly everyone in town. We work with our friends . . . the children of our fathers' friends. The boss is a man we've known for many years, and we're as proud of the job our store or factory or service plant is doing as is the boss himself. It's no wonder folks in our town don't have the troublesome problems of city people!

"But doesn't living in a small community narrow your perspective?" ask our city friends. Of course not! Nearly all of our children go through high school, and many continue on to nearby colleges. Through the radio and easy means of transportation we are linked closely to the rest of the nation, and its culture has become our culture. Most of us have found, as did the home-towners before our times, that our town offers an abundance of the better things of life.

The Illinois Northern Utilities Company, proud of being a part of this community, shares in the progress of our town. We hope this advertisement—second in a series—will help broaden the appreciation of our town and its contribution to the American way of life.

Chicago Elections Disgrace: Vursell

Washington, July 3—(AP)—A discussion of poll taxes before a congressional committee prompted an assertion yesterday by Rep. Vursell (R-Ill) that Chicago elections have been "a national disgrace and a local disgrace for many years."

Vursell is a member of the house administration- committee conducting a hearing on bills to outlaw the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting for federal office holders.

He made the observation during questioning of Jesse F. Orton, New York lawyer, who opposed the bills.

"In many of the great cities," Vursell said, "the observance of the will of the people in voting candidates is a mockery. In Chicago * * * there are people who voted who simply were not there and people who were shifted from ward to ward to vote."

Vursell said he believed poll taxes are used in some states to prevent "Negroes and "poor whites" from voting.

Orton insisted the states, not the federal government, have the power to determine who shall vote and what the qualifications shall be.

In Chicago, County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, supervisor of the Chicago election system, said he did not wish to comment on Vursells's assertion.

Contract for Ashton Road Work Awarded

The contract for grading and graveling a three-mile section of road south of Ashton has been awarded by the state to the J. P. Wetherby Construction company, Ottawa, which entered a bid of $73,457.90, it has been announced. Work on the road may start this week.

Meanwhile, County Highway Superintendent Fred Leake's office said this morning that no notice of the awarding of the contract for work on the road north of Franklin Grove has been received, although the letting on that project was held before that on the Ashton road.

Safety Council Says 275 to Die on Weekend

Chicago, July 3 —(AP)— The National Safeyt Council said yesterday that 30,000 cars will be on the nation's highways over the three-day Fourth of July holiday, causing the biggest traffic jam in history, and that 275 persons will be killed in traffic accidents.

The council added its estimate covers only immediate traffic deaths. Other victims will die later of injuries suffered over the holiday. In addition, the toll of dead and injured will be augmented by drownings, fireworks casualties, heat exhaustion, food poisoning, and other summer holiday hazards, the council predicted.

The maximum duration of an eclipse of the sun during the 20th century is 7.3 minutes.

An Ill-Timed Strike

At the risk of being repetitive, it might be well to recall a little recent history in connection with the current strike of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipyard Workers (CIO).

In 1944 President Roosevelt called for a program to keep our Merchant Marine up to date and our shipbuilding industry alive. The Navy approved the program. So did President Truman in December 1945. Shortly afterward Conress appropriated funds to carry it out. Then, a year ago Mr. Truman canceled the program for reasons of economy.

Later the President appointed an advisory committee to study the industry's problems and see what, if anything, the government could do about them. This committee has not yet made its final report.

Under present plans there will be only six merchant ships under construction by the first of next year.

This situation quite naturally is bad news for shipyard workers as well as for their employers. So on June 19 the shipyard workers union took a full-page advertisement in the Washington Post to tell the public that "the American shipbuilding program is virtually stopped right now."

Here are some quotations from the advertisement: "Within 10 years, America may be the only major nation in the world with an 'old' merchant fleet.

"Why do we need new ships now after all the ships we built 'to win the war'? The answer is very simple. Our wartime merchant ships were designed for war, not for peace. Those ships were obsolete the day they were built . . . It would cost more to use thase ship's today than to dispose of them.

"We didn't built passenger ships 'by the thousands' during the war . . . We didn't build fast cargo ships during the war. So we must build them now . . . If there is any further delay . . . the small core of trained men we still have left, in both management and labor, will disappear into other industries."

A great factor in shipbuilding's present difficulties is cost—material and labor cost. It takes about half again as much money to build a ship in the U. S. as it does to build a comparable vessel abroad. Figures for March show the average hourly earnings of American shipbuilding employees to be $1.41, as against a $1.24 average for all durable goods industries in the same month.

Yet in the face of high costs and disappearing business, the Bethlehem workers (with an average hourly wage of $1.53) went on strike one week after the union ad appeared.

It strikes us that the dual program of appeal and walkout is oddly conceived and oddly timed. With no prospect for future business at present, higher wages would have to be met by higher subsidies from a Congress that is averse to more government spending. It just doesn't seem to make sense.

As Pegler Sees It

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

New York—The interlocking association of the Roerich mystical cult and the New Deal, through the medium of Henry Wallace and several other leading personalities, has never been fully revealed in its stealthy reality. Wallace was a member of this group and he appointed Louis L. Horch, its principal financial backer, to very influential jobs in the departments of agriculture and commerce. Old Henry Morgenthau, the father of Henry the Morgue, who was Roosevelt's secretary of the treasury, fell for a new ism called biosophy and associated with the Guru, or swami, of that outfit, one Frederick Kettner, whose publications were put out by the press of Nicholas Konstantin Roerich, at the Roerich lamasery and museum also known as a "Master Institute," at 310 Riverside drive. Kettner is still in action. I telephoned his office for an appointment, but was told that he was on tour and could not be reached. This struck me as strange. Most showmen, lecturers and preachers who work the road are booked methodically and can be caught by phone, mail or telegram in a few hours. The young lady agreed that he could be compared to a ghost.

I then learned that Sol Bloom, the New Deal congressman whose district includes the lamasery, actually had lived in the place for some years. Mr. Bloom is one of the oldtimers of congress. He is now and he has the happy and mature disposition of a fellow who never took himself too seriously and lived by the way as he traveled through life.

He was born in Pekin, Ill., and was taken to San Francisco by his parents when the country west of the Mississippi was still frontier.

Sol was a showman at the first Chicago world fair in 1893, managing all concessions including a pitch on the streets of Cairo where a buxom babe introduced to western culture a squirm called the hootchy-kootchy discoursed to the thin wails of a snake-charmer's reed. "She wriggles and she's not a worm—for a dime 10 cens" was the wham-sock closing phrase of the cultural discourse of the traditional Midway professor at such displays. The professors themselves were almost as great an attraction as the hootch dancers, of whom Mr. Bloom now reveals, there were perhaps as many as 15.

In congress, Sol has been a New Dealer, of course, because he is an organization Democrat. In justice to him, however, it must be allowed that his indorsement of the Roosevelt program in its entirety was only a neck-sound. He interested himself in unhateful concerns and acted as director of the Washington bicentennial commission and director general of the sesquicentennial commission of the Constitution. He is a Mason Shriner, Elk, Moose and Red man, if I may put it so, a harmless New Dealer as distinguished from the malignant type.

I telephoned Mr. Bloom and asked him if it were true that he had lived up there in the temple with the lama himself, meaning old Roerich, and the disciples.

"Yes,—I—well, I.—that is, I mean that is my official residence", Sol said. "I used to to live there when old Roerich was there with his wife and son. You are pretty near right about them according to information I have received".

Mr. Bloom at this point expressed an interesting personal opinion of the Roerichs which is the observation of an old carnival showman who has seen the best of them close up, fortune - tellers, hypnotists, phrenologists, astrologers and all.

"Horch is not a bad fellow", Sol said. "He just got interested in Roerich's painting and stuff. I thought the paintings were terrible myself, and every time I would look at one of them I would want to go and get a drink. I haven't been up there for years now but I did live there and that's my voting address.

"I heard Roerich was dead some time ago", Sol said.

I don't like to doubt an old friend's word, but Sol is in politics and he certainly was nesting in the lamasery, and in very queer company, and now he tells me that Henry Wallace never was around in his day.

"I didn't even know he was in the picture", he said. "They're all nutty, you know".

But Wallace certainly was "around" in those days. The lamagery was "dedicated" with special ceremonies and oratorical setpieces on Oct. 17, 1929, the year the big panic broke. Mrs. Sina Fosdick, one of the faithful then and still, flatly says she saw Wallace enter the gigantic josshouse several times "with his collar turned up". It was her impression that he was trying to escape recognition. Others have said Wallace wore dark glasses on those visits. However, there is no doubt or mystery now about his association with Roerich.

The part that I have difficulty believing in Mr. Bloom's story is his insistence that he didn't know Wallace was in the circle, didn't know Wallace sent Roerich to Asia for the department of agriculture on a botanical mission and didn't even know that Wallace knew Horch. After all, Sol is a congressman and did rise, by seniority, to become chairman of the committee on foreign affairs. If he was that dumb or indifferent to important monkey business right in the same house where he lived as a cultural asset of the mystical circle, our foreign relations were not in the best of hands in his case.

After Horch broke with Roerich over money matters, he said that, when he and Mrs. Horch were paying the bills for this champion moocher of them all, Mrs. Roerich told him and Mrs. Horch, one day in Vichy, that her old man had a mental power over others and that if anyone went against him, he had power enough to kill him with his thoughts. The Horches swallowed so much of Roerich's nonsense, and so did Henry Wallace, that it seems certain that they fell for this business of the mental daggers and blue flames, too.

But Sol says Roerich never did any magic tricks around him.

"He never gave me any of that mystical business", says he. "I never could follow him, anyway. He gave weird lectures but I never let a hypmotist look me in the eye and whenever he would try it on me I would run".

DEATH of a DOLL

By Hilda Lawrence

Copyright by Hilda Lawrence; Distributed by NEA SERVICE, INC.

Illustrated by Walt Scott

The girl got up and brushed by her outstretched hand. "Excuse me," she said. "I forgot something." I'll win her over yet, Miss Small promised herself.

I

ANGELINE SMALL stepped out of the elevator at 5 o'clock and nodded to Kitty Brice behind the switchboard.

"Cold!" she said with a bright grimace. "Have they lighted the fire in the lounge?"

"Yes, Miss Small."

"Good," Miss Small said. But she walked briskly across the square lobby and checked for herself. There was only one girl in the lounge, a night worker in a Western Union office who went off to her job when the other girls came home. Miss Small found this routine confusing. When she went to her own bed at midnight, after coffee and gossip with Monny, she wanted to know that all of her 70 girls were safe and sound in their 70 good, though narrow, cots.

Miss Small switched on more lights, approved the fire and the bowls of fresh chrysanthemums, and spoke to the girl who was huddled in a deep chair with her eyes closed.

"Good evening, Lillian. Or should it be good morning?"

The girl looked up with a long, insolent stare and closed her eyes again.

Time for a little heart-to-heart talk with this one, Miss Small decided. Mustn't have sulks and surliness, such a bad example for the others. Perhaps a tiny note in her mailbox, an invitation to a nice cup of tea in my room. These poor, love-starved babies, I must do all I can.

"Isn't that a new coat, dear?" she asked.

The girl got up and brushed by the outstretched hand. "Excuse me," she said. "I forgot something."

Miss Small watched her cross the lobby with an arrogant stride and enter the elevator. I'll win her over, she promised herself, but I won't say anything to Monny. Poor Monny. She worries so when she knows I've been hurt.

SHE returned to the lobby and entered the railed enclosure that was the office. A broad, flat desk faced the street entrance and behind it was the switchboard. A panel of push bells covered the wall behind the board. The bells rang in the roms at seven in the morning and six in the evening. That was when the dining room opened. They also rang to announce visitors, phone calls, and emergencies. At right angles to the desk stood an orderly hive of glass-covered mailboxes, too often empty.

Miss Small glanced at her own box and spoke reprovingly.

"Kitty!"

Kitty gathered herself together and rose in sections. She was a tall, thin girl with poor skin and lips that were faintly blue.

"There's something in my box, Kitty, and you didn't give it to me."

"Headache," Kitty murmured. "I'm sorry, Miss Small, but you went by so fast before, and it's only a note Miss Brady put in."

"Miss Brady? Hand it to me at once, please." Miss Small tried to keep the pleasure out of her voice. Darling old Monny, she told herself, she's thought of something nice for us to do later on. Maybe the theater, or a really good movie, or a little supper at that new French place. She opened the envelope carelessly under Kitty's curious gaze.

> Angel (Monny wrote). I've got to see Marshall-Gill about the party, she phoned. You'll have to take over the desk for me until Plummer goes on at 8. There's a new girl coming in, Ruth Miller, I'm afraid I forgot to tell you. Forgive? She's to go in with April Hooper. Explain to her about April, will you? That's something else I forgot, but you'll do it so much better than I would! Yours, M.

MISS SMALL tucked the note in her blouse and sat at the desk, smiling at the daily report that was fastened to the blotter. Monica Brady's sprawling hand had okayed a suspicion of mice on the second floor, uncovered a flaw in the addition of a plumber's bill, and questioned room 304's explanation of why she had stayed out all night. Under 304's explanation, which was a new one, she found the new girl's registration card. Ruth Miller, age 29, saleswoman at Blackman's, no family or known relatives. Then came the confidential information in the staff code. Middle class, some refinement, shy, not a mixer, underweight, poor vision and teeth. Probably tonsils. Recommended by M. Smith and M. Smith.

Miss Small frowned. That meant three girls from Blackman's. It wasn't wise to have more than two from the same place. Two could be friends, three could be troublesome.

The front door swung open, admitting a raw, damp wind and a chattering pair who called "Good evening, Miss Small," as they hurried to the elevator. The evening had begun.

From the rear of the lobby a clatter of china and silver began in a low key and steadily rose, the silent switchboard came to life with a series of staccato buzzes, and the front door opened and shut at frequent intervals. In a short time the institutional smell of large-scale cooking and thick, damp clothing had routed the fragrance of burning logs and chrysanthemums. The Hope House girls had lived through another day and were coming home.

AT 5 o'clock young Mrs. Nicholas Sutton approached her favorite clerk in Blackman's toilet-goods department on the main floor. The clerk was Ruth Miller. Young Mrs. Sutton, snug and warm in her new birthday sables, slid a shopping list across the counter and made an honest apology.

"I ought to be shot for coming in so late," she said. "You've got all your adding up to do."

Ruth Miller took the list and smiled. In the year she had worked at Blackman's Mrs. Sutton was the only woman customer who had regarded the counter between them as a bridge, not a barrier. In consequence, she gave Mrs. Sutton the same devotion she had once given a star on top of a Christmas tree; they were both remote yet intimate; untouchable but hers.

Mrs. Sutton smiled back at the plain, pleasant girl and wondered for the third or fourth time why she didn't take her away from that counter and put her in the Sutton nursery. She'd be wonderful with baby. "How've you been, Miss Miller? And why aren't you wearing your glasses? That's crazy, you know."

"They're broken," Ruth Miller said. "But I'm getting new ones."

"I should certainly hope so! Crazy to put off things like that. But otherwise you look very chipper."

Ruth Miller's pale cheeks flushed. "I'm just fine," she said. She'd tell Mrs. Sutton why she was fine, too. Some people might think it was silly, but Mrs. Sutton would understand. Mrs. Sutton always surprised you that way. All the money in the world herself but she understood about not having any. "I've got a new place to live," she said breathlessly, and her calm, plain face was almost pretty. "No more subways and furnished rooms with not enough heat and eating any which way! And only six blocks from here, a lovely place, you can't imagine! It's a kind of club, a hotel for girls, with breakfast and dinner, and they even have a room in the basement where you can do your own laundry. It's lovely, and so cheap, and all the hot water you want. I think that's what got me. No hot water is awful."

"No hot water is the devil," Mrs. Sutton agreed. "How'd you ever find it?"

"Two girls in our stockroom live there. I knew they made less than I do, but they always looked better somehow. You know—nice coats and gloves, and permanents, and all that. So I asked them how they managed and they told me. And then I went over there and talked to the Head, a Miss Monica Brady, and she said she could give me a room with another girl. Eight dollars a week, can you imagine, with the food and all those privileges! I move in tonight and—" She stopped because Mrs. Sutton was staring straight ahead and her eyes were as wide as a child's.

RUTH MILLER turned her own head to investigate, and her heart gave a sickening lurch. On the rear wall, above the elevators, a small red light blinked steadily and evenly. One-two-three, one-two; one-two-three, one-two. The light was little more than a crimson blur, but she could read its silent message too well.

"I know what that's for," Mrs. Sutton said softly. "Old man Blackman is a friend of my father's. But what's the dope? I mean what does the blinkety-blink say?"

Ruth Miller looked down at her hands and saw that they were trembling. She tried to fill in the sales slip, but it was useless. I'm a fool, she told herself; I've got to stop acting like this. She didn't look up when she answered. "One-two-three, one-two means the main aisle, hosiery. . . . It's a woman."

"The idiot," Mrs. Sutton observed cheerfully. "Pulling a thing like that when the store's almost empty. She deserves to be caught. Idiot, she must be crazy. . . . Hey, maybe it's not a professional, maybe it's a kleptomaniac. For heaven's sake, maybe it's somebody I know! I'm going over!"

Ruth Miller's hands gripped the edge of the counter. "No," she said. "No. Don't do it, don't go. It's not fair, it's awful; don't go, Mrs. Sutton, please."

Mrs. Sutton gave her a quick, surprised look. "Okay," she said carelessly. "You're a nice girl, Miss Miller, and I'm a no-account lug. Well, so long. Charge and send the stuff. We're going down to Pinehurst tomorrow, be gone until after Thanksgiving. See you when I get back." She turned up the collar of her sable coat. "Be good," she smiled.

Ruth Miller watched the slim, straight figure as it walked without hesitation to the side-street exit. Mrs. Sutton was avoiding the main aisle where a high voice was raised in tearful expostulation.

It was then 5:15. In another 15 minutes she would begin a new life. She filled Mrs. Sutton's order and sent it down the chute.

Dempsey-Friel Wedding Party

Shown above following their wedding in St. Patrick's church Saturday morning are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Friel and their attendants. The bride is the former Miss June Dempsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dempsey, 322 Tenth street, and Mr. Friel is the son of Mrs. Rose Friel, 615 Dixon avenue. With them are pictured Miss Marjorie Friel, sister of the bridegroom, maid of honor, and John Friel, brother of the bridegroom, best man.

June Dempsey, Edward Friel Speak Vows in Ceremony in St. Patrick's

In a setting of peonies and delphinium, nuptial vows of Miss Jane Dempsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dempsey, 322 Tenth street, and Edward Friel, son of Mrs. Rose Friel, 615 Dixon avenue, were spoken in St. Patrick's church Saturday morning. The Rev. T. L. Walsh officiated.

Mrs. Henry L. Reynolds was soloist and Sister Concepta the organist. The former sang "On This Day" preceding the ceremony and "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus" during the service.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a white eyelet embroidered organdy gown fashioned with a round neckline, bishop sleeves, fitted bodice, full skirt and slight train. Her blusher veil was held in place by orange blossoms and her jewelry was a gold cross, the gift of the bridegroom. In the bridal bouquet were white roses, gladiolas and stephanotis.

As maid of honor, Miss Marjorie Friel, sister of the bridegroom, wore blue dotted swiss gown fashioned like that of the bride with the exception of its short sleeves. With it she wore white lace-trimmed mitts and a headband of flowers like those making up her colonial bouquet.

John Friel of Rock Falls was his brother's best man and Edward Dempsey, brother of the bride, and John Todor ushered.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. Mrs. Joseph Gorman cut the cake and Mrs. Gordon Dempsey poured. In charge of the bride's book was Mrs. Joseph Dempsey.

The couple left on a week's wedding trip to Wisconsin after which they will make their home at 615 Dixon avenue. For traveling the bride chose a two-piece black faille suit and white accessories.

Mrs. Friel was graduated from Dixon high school and has been employed at the Illinois Northern Utilities company for the past four years. The bridegroom is a veteran of 42 months Army service and is employed as an apprentice brick layer with the Lindquist Construction company.

St. James Society Has Annual Party

Mrs. Clarence Bothe was hostess for the annual luncheon of members of the St. James Aid Society at her home yesterday. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Annabelle Pitzer, Mrs. Amy Wolfram, Mrs. Mason Nurnburg and Mrs. Maude Hand. Among the guests were women from Eldena and Dixon and the hostess' cousin from Pennsylvania.

The afternoon's program was opened with group singing after which the devotionals were given by Mrs. Edna Topper. Fancy work articles to be completed for a bazaar in the future were distributed by Mrs. Nada Burkett, who also announced a Sunday School ice cream social which is planned for next week.

During the social hour several musical solos were presented. Beverly and Dorothy Pitzer and Donnie Johns sang after Mrs. Hand had played a group of harmonica selections. Piano solos were given by Charlotte and Marilyn Bothe and Marjorie Young and Elnora Bothe played a violin solo.

There will be no August meeting of the group as the annual picnic will be held Aug. 3 at Lowell Park. A church service will follow the dinner.

MARY NAGY HONORED AT MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER BY FRIENDS

Miss Mary Nagy, who will become the bride of Don McBride July 12, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given last night by Misses Beverly Thompson and Norma McBride at the home of the latter. The evening was spent playing Duh's bridge with prizes going to Mrs. Frank Villiger, Mrs. C. C. Hintz and Miss Delores Heinzeroth.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated with garden flowers. A miniature bride and pastel-gowned bridesmaid held the placecards.

Attending the shower were Mrs. Mary Nagy, Mrs. A. E. McBride, Mrs. A. E. McBride, Mrs. Villiger, Mrs. Howard Smith, Mrs. Vernon Heckman, Mrs. Wendell Drummond, Mrs. Hintz and the Misses Heinzeroth and Barbara Shippert.

LUNCHEON

Mrs. Ruth Overstreet Albright entertained 12 guests at luncheon Wednesday at the Nachusa House.

On Canadian Wedding Trip

Now on a wedding trip to New York, Niagara Falls and Canada are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Chatfield Bank, who were married June 21 in St. Anne's church. The bride is the former Sylvia Marie Lohse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lohse, 817 North Jefferson avenue, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Harry Burke of Chicago. The couple will reside at 1450 West Congress street, Chicago.

Golfers of Four Cities Compete

Dixon country club women were hostesses to golfers from Freeport, Rock River and Clinton, Ia., yesterday at a Guest Play Day. Prizes were awarded to low score winners from each club and a special prize for the player who was the most up on bogey at the end of the first nine holes was donated by Mildred Ryan and won by "Chick" Nisson.

Prize winners in the local club low score competition included: Marjorie Barrowman, low net for 18 holes; Adeline Meyers, low putts for 18 holes; Alice Peterson, low net for nine holes, and Pearl Detweiler, low putts for nine holes. Low scores for Rock River players were held by Marjorie Ague, low net, and Harriet Kennedy, low putts.

Winning prizes in the Freeport group of guests were: Sally Burrell, low net for 18 holes; Mrs. Rubendall, low putts for 18 holes; Mrs. Young, low net for nine holes, and Mrs. Bangs, low putts for nine holes. Clinton winners included Mrs. Reideset, low net, and Mrs. Zastrow, low putts.

The women will be guests of the Plum Hollow golfers next Wednesday, July 9. Tee-off time will be 1:00 o'clock followed by a dinner at 7:00 o'clock. Reservations should be made for the latter.

WAR MOTHERS TO ATTEND DISTRICT MEETING JULY 16

Members of the Mothers of World War II organization held their regular business meeting yesterday in the G. A. R. hall. Mrs. John Selgestad gave a report on the recent 13th district meeting in Erie.

Resignation of Mrs. Irene Vickery as recording secretary was presented to the group and Mrs. Pearl Blackburn was assigned to assume the position for the remainder of the year.

The next 13th District meeting will be held July 16 in Morrison. There will be a dish towel sale and all members are asked to bring a towel that they have made. For transportation those who are going are asked to call Mrs. L. E. Sheller at R840.

Members will meet July 23 at 10:00 o'clock for a sewing session at the G. A. R. hall. A sack lunch will be served at noon.

Take Body To Mt. Morris

No one was able to tell how the accident happened, although it was reported last night that a tire blew out on the truck, throwing it out of control.

Mrs. Blake's body, taken to the Farrell funeral home, Oregon, later was removed to the Finch funeral home, Mt. Morris, where funeral arrangements were being made. An inquest was to be held there, but the time had not been set definitely this morning.

She is survived by her husband in addition to her four children, the oldest 8 years of age

Both the car and truck, described as completely demolished, were taken to an Oregon garage.

tive contract terms.

Hours later some economists in the industry said that instead of the 35-cent hourly pay increase Lewis had been represented as wanting, the settlement actually would raise the basic production rate of the inside day miner from $1.18½ to $1.63 an hour—a boost of 44½ cents.

The miner would get $13.05 a day for eight hours underground. instead of the $11.85 he now receives for nine hours. The one hour allowance for underground travel would be retained, but he also would be paid for a 30-minute lunch period. Thus his total production shift would be only six and one-half hours, in place of his present eight hours.

Divorce Granted—

Mrs. Norma J. Butler, Ashton, was awarded a divorce from Wayne E. Butler by Judge George C. Dixon in Lee county Circuit court on a charge of cruelty this morning. She was granted custody of their child, Sherry Lynn, 17 months, and Butler was ordered to pay $30 monthly in support of the child. They were married Feb. 3, 1945, at Ashton. Mrs. Butler was represented by the law firm of Warner & Warner, Butler by Dixon, Devine, Bracken & Ryan.

Former Ammboyite Fined—
(Telegraph Special Service)

Rock Falls, July 3—Roy Zentz of Rock Falls, formerly of Amboy, was assessed fines totalling $150 and costs when arraigned before Justice R. W. E. Mitchell yesterday. The charges included those of transporting uncased firearms on a public highway, possessing a package of liquor on which the seal had been broken on a public highway and operating a motor vehicle bearing fictitious license plates. A fourth charge of assault and battery upon Glenn Tompkins, a relative, was continued for hearing until July 12 and Zentz was released on bond of $1,000 until that date. He was arrested June 25 by State Highway Officer George Kiner on the Lincoln Highway, a short distance west of Dixon, when he had been reported on his way to Dixon to shoot a relative.

Fireman Makes Arrest—

Fireman Bill Cinnamon was credited with an arrest yesterday.

It all came about when Robert Barnes, an eight-year-old State Hospital ward, escaped from a theater outing and entered the Central Food Market.

The boy grabbed several packages of garden seeds and fled, pursued by several people. He rounded the corner of Second and Galena, only to be nabbed by Cinnamon, who was attracted by the commotion.

State Hospital attaches removed the boy, committed from Peoria, from the police station.

Decision Not Final

Use of the term "provisional" in excluding Spain appeared to indicate that the final decision on whether Spain would permanently be outside any economic agreement reached would rest with an international "temporary organization" which the communique said the British and French proposed to establish.

The British and French foreign ministers conferred at length this morning, emphasizing the break with Russia over the Marshall suggestion.

ued, until this matter is settled."

May licked his lip several times as the jury was being polled and at the conclusion remarked to reporters:

"Well, this is the end of round one."

Murray Garsson said vehemently, "I'm still not guilty!" His brother Henry declined to make any comment.

A fourth man, Joseph F. Freeman, Washington agent for the $70,000,000 Garsson munitions combine, won a bench-directed acquittal mid-way in the lengthy trial.

May and the Garssons flatly denied the government contentions that they conspired to defraud the public of May's services in congress by using his prestige in wartime Washington on behalf of the Garssons.

Conceded Money Payments

The defense conceded that May got the money from the Garssons but claimed he repaid it by spending it all on a Kentucky firm, the Cumberland Lumber Company, owned by the munitions men. The prosecution asserted the real purpose behind Cumberland was to conceal the alleged bribes and set May up in a lucrative lumber business.

In this connection, Federal Justice Henry A. Schweinhaut instructed the jury late yesterday that it was immaterial whether May repaid the money. The question for the jury, the court said, was whether the intent behind the payments was to compensate May for his frequent discussion of Garsson war production problems with war department officials ranging from colonels to Secretary of War Robert Patterson.

The present case grew out of a senate war investigating committee probe last summer, presided over by then Senator James M. Mead (D-NY). The defense charged during the trial that Mead was motivated "by political ambition" to become governor of New York. The only trial witness queried on this denied it.

It was brought out in the senate hearings that the Garssons got their first war contract on a borrowed letterhead and ran it into a giant arms combine.

The defense pictured May as a patriot and the Garssons as production experts whose efforts hastened peace.

Mosquito Nuisance Down

Considerable concern has been expressed in recent days about the mosquito condition at Lowell park. Investigation has proven that these pests are at a minimum until the early evening hours. Paul Sodegren, Lowell park policeman, said today that picnickers and visitors tomorrow should not experience any difficulty during the day time. He assured the committee that no one need stay away from the celebration because of the mosquito condition.

Special services have been arranged for motorists and the holiday crowd. These include first aid services by the Lee County Health Department, ambulance service, messenger service by the Boy Scouts, special parking privileges for physically handicapped visitors, wrecker and towing service and controlled parking under the direction of the American Legion and the Illinois State Police.

Bus Service To Park

There will be special bus service to and from Dixon throughout the day on a schedule of every 30 minutes. The transportation committee is also operating a shuttle service bus line from the upper level of Lowell park to the river front area. This latter service will be available at short intervals.

Fireworks Between Bridges

The fireworks display, which opens at 10 p m. between the bridges in Dixon, will be staged from the north bank of Rock River due to the soft condition of the ground on the island. Everyone is urged to see the display from either bridge or from the south bank of the river. No one will be allowed on the north banks between Peoria and Galena Avenues. The fireworks will be touched off by factory representatives and every precaution has been taken to prevent injuries to onlookers.

The committee urges everyone to bring their picnic baskets and plan to spend the entire day in Dixon.

school in Nelson and later Dixon high school, comes to AMPRO with an impressive background in the industry, having been associated with General Precision Equipment corporation and subsidiary companies since August 1936, joining its predecessor company, General Theater Equipment corporation as assistant to the president, Earl G. Hines. Since that time, Mr. Palmer has become vice-president and director of General Precision Equipment corporation of New York—executive vice president and director of International Projector corporation of Bloomfield, N. J.; president and director of Cine Simplex corporation of Syracuse—and a director of the following companies: Askania Regulator Co., of Chicago; Bizzelle Cinema Supply corp. of New York; Librascope, Inc., of Burbank, Cal; J. E. McAuley Mfg. Co., of Chicago; Motion Picture Engineering Corp., of Chicago; National-Simplex Bludworth Inc., of New York; Strong Electric Corp., of Toledo; Theater Equipment Contracts Corp., of New York and General Precision Laboratory, Inc., of Pleasantville, N. Y.

Organize London Company

Although he will continue to hold these positions and directorships, he will make his headquarters in AMPRO's plant and will devote his main efforts to guiding AMPRO's operations.

Since AMPRO became a subsidiary of General Precision Equipment Corporation in 1944, the company has rapidly expanded its facilities and world-wide sales scope. Only this past month, AMPRO announced a forward step of vast importance—the manufacture of its equipment in England and the organization of a London company known s "Simplex-Ampro. Ltd." to distribute Ampro 16mm silent and sound-on-film projectors for England's home markets.

Wife Native of Dixon

Having been associated with General Precision Equipment corporation for over 10 years, Mr. Palmer is expected to further correlate Ampro's operations with the resources and technical skills of its parent company, who have achieved such dominance in the 35mm field.

When asked for a general statement of his policy, Mr. Palmer said:

"I will carry on the Ampro ideals of precision manufacture and constant improvement of product."

Mrs. Palmer was the former Miss Gladys Jones of Dixon, the daughter of W. C. Jones, pioneer Dixon grocer.

Rochelle Resumes Annual Picnics That Attracted Huge Crowds Before War

The 16th annual Farmers' picnic, an event which was discontinued during the war years, will be resumed at Rochelle Aug. 21, it was announced today.

The last picnic was held in 1942, and attracted more than 20,000 persons. Officials anticipate that the picnic this year will exceed that figure, since new attractions are being planned for the event.

Bobtales

By BOB FALLSTROM

Harold Cook, general supervisor of the Chamber of Commerce holiday celebration at Lowell park, reports "mosquitoes are few and far between."

This year's fete, which shapes up as outstanding providing the pesky 'skeeters really go into hiding, is highlighted by a group of sports events, ranging from children's sack races to softball.

Certainly one of the day's big attractions will be the boat races on Rock river. "Sparky" Campbell and Wayne Williams have donated a nifty trophy for the high individual point winner, spicing the competition.

Swimming contests probably will draw a large segment of the city's youthful water enthusiasts. Horseshoe pitching will have its field and audience.

Then there's the Junior American Legion hardball clash between Dixon and Sterling and the softball encounter pairing Barrick Steers and the Ashton All-Stars.

Looks to be quite a day in prospect!

MAIL DEPT.—Postmarked Tower, Minn.: "Having a good time. We caught a lot of nice walleyed pike and pickerel. Flying into small lake today (June 30) where Tuttle got the 26½ pound pickerel last year. Tomorroy portaging into Canada.

"The Boveys, Tuttles and Hintzes"

PRIVATE LIVES DEPT.—Lyle Fordham, the "Flash" who manages Reynolds Wire and United Cigar All-Star softballers, and Shires Miller went fishing near Thomson recently.

They bagged quite a number of fish from a boat, regularly depositing the catches in a gunny sack that trailed in the water.

When the fishermen returned to shore and hoisted the sack they found a neat and large opening in the bottom . . . and no fish.

As one observer remarked: "Fordham is having about as much luck getting a pitcher for the All-Stars as he had at Thomson!"

And then there's the happening at Rockford last Sunday. Nig Knigge, manager of Lindquist's, caught for Dixon Moose against the Rockford lodge team.

When the game ended the host lodge threw a feed for all involved. Entertainment, naturally, followed. It was the most embarrassing type, too, audience participation.

Nig was required to stretch out on the lap of a beauteous girl, attired in a baby bonnet and sundry infant items. The contest was a race between several contestants to see which could drain a bottle of milk via the nipple route. Guess who won in a breeze!

SEEKS GAMES—Teams in and around Dixon wishing to schedule out of town softball games on Wednesday or Friday evenings are invited to write Don Mulcay, 108 South Mulberry, Mt. Morris.

Mulcay is co-manager of the Mt. Morris Ben Franklin softball club along with Harold Patterson, public schools superintendent.

IN SHORT—Jim Richardson, Merchants' slugging shortstop, is attending summer school at Northern Illinois State Teachers college, DeKalb . . . City Fireman Chester "Shorty" Stangeland is a former rodeo cowpoke . . . Roy Kuhn reconsidered a plan to quit the United Cigar All-Stars and is now back with the team . . . An item misplaced since Sunday is Knacks' acquisition of Pitcher Bob Currie, a 17-year-old lefthander who is residing in Dixon with Ted Anderson . . . Coleman Six will be off to Chi tomorrow to see the Cubs and Cards tangle in a twin-bill, as will several other Dixonites . . . "Flash" Fordham was scheduled to be a Wrigley Field spectator today . . . Lindquists play at Mt. Morris July 9 . . . Elsie Witzleb Foster collected a hole in one on No. 9 at Plum Hollow Saturday.

RESULTS LAST NIGHT
Three Deuces 12, Fazzi's 3.
Lindquist 15, VFW 5.

Scoring almost at will, Nig Knigge's Lindquist crew vaulted into second place in the airport softball legue last night with an easy 15-5 conquest of VFW. Three Deuces blasted Fazzi's 12-3 in the opener.

The nightcap was marked by many Lindquist base hits and a series of arguments that culminated with Plate Umpire Harry Downs' ouster of VFW Third Sacker Dick Conkrite.

Don Harmon was called out at the plate in the sixth inning on a close play, leading to the ruckus. Harmon twisted a knee during his dive for home and left the game. He was attempting to score when cut down on Leo Prowant's peg from left field.

Lindquist's solved Pitcher Paul Van Oosten for six runs their first time at bat, enough to win as it turned out. Three errors helped.

Leading 7-3, the winners came up with three-run bursts in the fourth and fifth and scored another pair in the sixth. They closed out the books with a single tally during the last frame.

George "Punchy" Carlson and Manager Knigge obtained three blows apiece to pace the 12-hit attack. Two of Knigge's hits were doubles.

VFW, dropping its second game in a row to fall from third to fourth, collected only five bingles off little Herbie Litterel, who fanned 10.

Retain Second Place

The win pushed Lindquist's record to 3-1 and placed them a slim game in back of league leading Reynolds Wire.

Three Deuces had little trouble in winning the lidlifter. All 12 runs were marked up during stick sprees in the second through the fifth innings.

Left Fielder Koesler pounded three hits for the green clad winners, high mark of the game. Eleven hits in all were garnered off Harold Knight.

Joe Curlee threw a six-hitter at Fazzi's and struck out seven men for his second mound victory in a row.

No games are scheduled Friday on account of the July 4 holiday, action resuming next Wednesday evening.

Ashton Girls Team at Airport Tonight

MANAGERS' MEETING

Twilight league managers will meet at 7 p. m. this evening at The Dixon Evening Telegraph, instead of at 7:30, as previously announced.

The confab is for the purpose of thrashing out playing rules and controversial issues now at hand. All pilots are urged to be in attendance.

Softball featuring the weaker sex, which has blossomed into a tremendous drawing card throughout the midwest, makes its 1947 debut at the airport this evening when the Ashton girls tangle with DeKalb's Chix.

A novelty before the war, the game has definitely arrived, spurred by the All-American Girls league, a circuit encompassing Rockford among other towns.

Right now the Peaches, as Rockford's entry is known, are far in front at the box office in a fight with the Rox, who play Class C Central Association ball.

Fans turn out in large numbers whenever two sets of gals get together on the diamond these days. . .not only in the sport's "major leagues" but also in towns such as Ashton, DeKalb, Polo, Lee Center et al.

Thus tonight's joust, scheduled to begin at 9 p. m., figures to draw a big outpouring of softball boosters.

Ashton's club is highlighted by Pitcher Norene Arnold, a young, slim blonde with plenty of mound savvy. Also in the lineup are three Dixon residents. First Sacker Garland Knight, Second Baseman Lorraine Baker and Third Sacker Florence Atkinson.

Advices from DeKalb claim the Chix are tough to beat, which should make for excellent entertainment.

Sterling Rockets Here on Sunday

Reynolds field is the site of a key Western division battle Sunday—Reynolds Wire vs. Sterling's Rockets.

With the Wiremen dashing toward the tape still unbeaten Sterling finds it must win to remain reasonably close to the top. A defeat would just about eliminate Manager Ervin Walters' club.

Reynolds Wire, you'll remember, handcuffed the Rockets, 3-0, at Sterling May 18 in one of this season's classics. Hank Henry was the moundsman involved.

Going into tomorrow's contest here with unpredictable Walnut, Manager "Hi" Emmert's charges are the league's only perfect ball club.

Incidentally, the Walnut game complicates matters somewhat because of the pending Sterling tilt.

Just the same, though, the Wiremen plan to protect that flawless mark with vigor so they can wake up Monday morning with a 6-0 rating.

Hanover Legion Plays Dixon Sun.

Hanover's Junior American Legion club, currently leading the 13th District league with a 4-0 mark, comes here Sunday afternoon for a game that is likely to decide the loop race.

Dixon's Legion will be the host at Reynold's field at 1 p. m. sharp. The locals have won three games and lost one and are passing for the top spot.

NO DECISION AS YET ON FELLER'S BACK INJURY

Cleveland, July 3—(AP)—A decision on whether Bobby Feller, mound ace for the Cleveland Indians, will be in shape for the all-star game Tuesday probably won't be reached for several days.

Following an examination of the injured hurler's back yesterday, Dr. Edward Castle said several fibres of a muscle had been torn.

Dixon High Team Meets Ottawa Bucs

Dixon high school's hardball outfit travels to Ottawa for a twilight NCIC contest this evening.

Lefthander Dave Lahey is scheduled to start on the mound as the locals go after their initial victory of the season after two defeats. Ottawa has won one and lost one.

Other games tonight are Sterling Township (0-1) at DeKalb (3-1) and Sterling Community (1-0) at Princeton (0-2).

Bums Take Lead; Club Giants, 11-3

(By The Associated Press)

The Dodgers today are on top of the National league. Yet, by all the laws of nature and baseball they should be in the second division. For on paper they are are no better than that.

One big reason for their current hold on the top rung stems from their ability to beat the Giants, especially on their home soil.

The Brooks borrowed a page from the Giants book last night, falling on three Giant pitchers for nine runs in the fourth inning and went on to a handy 11-3 victory.

The win enabled the Dodgers to take a one game lead over the Boston Braves. The Hubmen dropped a 6-5 decision to the Phillies in Philadelphia.

Scoring eight runs in a wild fifth inning, the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Pirates in Pittsburgh 8-6 as a crowd of 23,384 wached.

The New York Yankees opened up a six and a half game lead in the American league by drubbing the Washington Senators 8-1 at the Yankee Stadium.

Scoring a run in the ninth inning the Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Red Sox at Boston 7-6 to take over undisputed possession of fourth place.

Throttling a late rally, Hal Newhouser, Detroit's great southpaw, gained his ninth win against eight losses as he pitched the Detroit Tigers to a 6-5 win over the Indians in Cleveland.

Helped by homers by Wally Judnich and Jeff Heath, Jack Kramer had an easy time in pitching the Browns to a 7-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox in St. Louis.

All games were played at night with the St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Cubs idle.

Olympic Chances Bright -- Ferris

Lincoln, Neb., July 3—(AP)—There was nothing pessimistic about Dan Ferris, the little A. A. U. secretary, today as he looked at the 1948 Olympic game chances of the United States.

With the A. A. U. national pre-Olympic track and field championships coming up here tomorrow and Saturday, Ferris viewed the field as a migty one—much better than that of 1935, the last pre-Olympic meet of the organization.

He expressed a view that when the sun goes down Saturday the U. S. can smile.

He foresaw better "bunched scoring power" for some events in 1948 games, and even a surplus of power in some

Some Surplus Men

"We can enter only three men in an event (Olympic games) and in some we may find ourselves with six men who could run just that way across the pond," Ferris chuckled.

U. S. airlines carried more than 13 million passengers in 1946, almost double their 1945 load.

Walnut Plays Here; R & H at Hospital

Tomorrow's holiday hardball calendar features a variety of games, most representing playoffs of rained-out Midwest league contests.

Locally, Reynolds Wire (4-0) defends its Western division lead by tackling Walnut (2-4) in a 2:30 p. m. game at Reynolds field. Johnny Rucker is due to start on the mound for the Wiremen.

At the State Hospital, Roberts & Hess and Hospital collide at 9:30 a. m. in a non-league replay of a Memorial day slugfest copped by R & H, 24-22.

Knacks (2-3) journey to Deer Grove (1-4) to make up a rainout contest. Either Charley Davis or newcomer Bob Currie gets the slab assignment. The game is a Western division affair.

Still another Western battle sends Cherry (2-3) to Sterling (4-2). Sterling needs a win to stick close to Reynolds Wire, now the league's only perfect club.

A doubleibill is scheduled for Paw Paw, where the Compton-Paw Paw Colts meet Maytown in a Central division re-play at 1 p. m. with the Paw Paw-Compton Bluejays to play a Rockford club as the second attraction.

RELINQUISH DIAMOND

Roberts & Hess failed to secure the Howe All-Stars for a Reynolds field encounter tomorrow and accepted the Hospital's bid for a morning game, meanwhile relinquishing Reynolds Wire. Reynolds Wire's game with Walnut was originally scheduled for the airport diamond.

DeKalb Hybrids Here Sunday Eve

The DeKalb Hybrids and star hurler Bud Challand will oppose the United Cigar All-Stars Sunday evening at the airport. Dixon Moose meets Freeport Moose as a preliminary.

DeKalb again boasts its customarily strong team, just about the premier outfit in and about the Barb city.

The local Cigarmen will be out to break a two-game losing streak to Peru and Kewanee teams after opening with successive triumphs over Rockford and Ashton.

Art Cook, Tampico thrower, is expected to chuck for Manager "Flash" Fordham's crew.

Rockets, Howe's Deadlock at 2-2

Sterling, July 3—(Special) — Sterling's Rockets and the unbeaten Howe All-Stars battled to a 10-inning, 2-2 tie last evening.

Lowell "Bud" Mertz flipped one hit ball for the Rockets, Bill Howe getting the lone bingle, a triple, in the second.

Mertz' slab opponent, Kadel Howe, gave up only two hits but one was a triple by Norb Hutten in the last half of the ninth that drove in two runs and tied the game.

The line score:
Rock Falls 001 010 000 0—2 1 2
Sterling ...000 000 002 0—2 2 2
K. Howe and Westcott; Mertz and McCune.

BOOSTERS BEATEN FOR FIRST TIME BY ROCK FALLS OUTFIT

Sterling, July 3—(Special)—The Sterling Boosters dropped their first game in 12 starts Wednesday when Rock Falls' Merchants nosed out a 4-3 decision.

Loser Harry Woodyatt gave up 10 hits over the nine inning distance and counted only six strikeouts. Charley Van Drew was the winning pitcher.

"Tiny" Tiny Races on Holiday Card

Mendota, July 3—(Special) — Tiny Wainwright of Kansas City, Mo., the biggest midget racer in the midwest, is an entrant in the big 4th of July midget race program at the Tri-County fairgrounds one-fifth mile track tomorrow afternoon.

Wainwright weighs in the neighborhood of 225 pounds and is so large he has to have an oversize cockpit to house his frame. He'll be one of more than 20 contestants on the program.

Time trials begin at 12:30 (CDT) with the first race to be called at 2:30. A 20-lap race will be featured.

FORMER WHITE SOX MEDICO DIES AT CHICAGO RESIDENCE

Chicago, July 3—(AP) —Dr. Carl Westman, 78, a member of the University of Illinois faculty for 15 years and once team physician for the Chicago White Sox baseball team, died after a long illness yesterday in his Chicago home.

He had been retired since 1940. A native of Skaraborg, Sweden, Dr. Westman began practice in Chicago in 1890. He was once an editorial staff member of the Journal of Physical Therapy.

DOWN MEMORY LANE

Two 1932 Players Are Still Active

By BOB FALLSTROM

Today we flip the memory book back to 1932 to reminisce about the William B. Johnson Shoe Co. hardball club.

Mike McDonald fished out the above postcard photo of the team, which should bring back nostalic twinges to several Dixonites.

Two members are still active on the baseball front, Outfielder Roy Kuhn and Cliff McConnaughay did pasture duty 15 years ago.

Henley, whose first name escapes everyone we've talked to, was at first base with Les Smith and the late Bud Lightner alternating at second, the late "Paddy" McDonald at short and Eddie Beach at third. Lightner and "Paddy" were killed in the recent war.

Outfielders, in addition to Kuhn and McConnaughay, were Jack Jackson, Paul Noakes and Ralph Webb. Bill McDonald, "Paddy's" brother, was the catcher. The pitcher's name is a mystery although it is known he managed Scott's five and dime store that year.

Another member of the team was Harry Downs, who now umpires many local games. Downs hung up his spikes during midseason when he went under the knife with appendicitis. The picture was snapped during his hospital siege.

Johnson, the well-dressed man at the far right in the second row, was patron. His factory was located in the present building of the Freeman plant on West First street.

Also unidentified in the pic is the man dressed in street togs at the far left.

It's END-FERMENTED

A Sane 4th... Jolly With Peerless... While Rockets Burst Tops For Thirst

For fun on the 4th . . . an American tradition . . . a Jolly serving of Peerless Amber will make each moment a pleasant memory. Another tradition passed through the years is the careful, skillful brewing of Peerless. It's End-fermented for extra, full tasting beer enjoyment. We add nothing new to the fermenting brew . . . but patiently wait Nature's magic processing of each grain of barley, each bud of hops into the End-fermented, crystal clear uniformity of Peerless Amber.

"THE BEER OF GOOD CHEER"

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

The Picnic Was a "Hug" Success!

Our local Wild Life League went on a picnic Saturday, and I went along to cover it for the Clarion. Monday, folks kept stopping me, and saying: "Must have gotten out of hand, that picnic!"

"Nonsense," I says. "It was mighty pleasant and congenial. Just beer and hot dogs, cheese and cider." And then they show me the headline reading: "WILD WIFE PICNIC HUG SUCCESS."

Of course it was Elmer, my typesetter, who had made the misprints: But is my face red! It's only because folks are so temperate and well-behaved in our town, that they could afford to take the whole thing as a joke.

From where I sit, even a newspaper editor's entitled to a few mistakes. And since I reported that they served a moderate beverage like beer, I'm sure nobody thinks the picnic was the least bit wild, or anything but a huge success—and I mean huge!

Hollywood

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood — (AP) —Waist in; shoulders down; hips out; skirts down. No, girls, that's not a new setting-up exercise; that's how your fashions are going.

This intelligence comes from Edith Head, Paramount"s waspish fashion expert, the gal who plans everything from Betty Hutton's buttons to Gail Russell's bustles. She confirms the rumblings from Paris and New York that women's clothes will suffer a tremendous change this year. Of course, it's bill-footing papa who'll do the real suffering.

"In a little while", said Miss Head, "Modern pictures that are a year old will look like period films; that's how great the changes are".

Hollywood, Paris and New York are collaborating on the new fashion, said the designer. The Parisian contribution: "Padding slips from shoulders to hips". Although she is playing along with this movement, Edith doesn't approve. Declared she: "Women's hips are big enough without padding them".

The movies are leading the way in the slim waist division. Film actresses have always had to maintain minimum midsections; because the camera tends to make normal waists appear larger and the glamor girls will have to inhale deeper.

"For the first time since the Civil war", Edith enthused, "a woman's charm will be determined by whether a man can encircle her waist with his two hands".

Yes, men, it looks like hard times ahead.

Concerning the above, I was visiting "The Mating of Millie" set and assumed from the lengthy dresses worn by Evelyn Keyes and others that it was a period picture of the 1900's. I was summarily informed it was a modern story and those were the dresses that will be popular when the picture is released.

Marshall Field IV is Divorced in the East

Manchester, N. H., July 3—(AP)—Mrs. Joan Field, daughter of a former New Hampshire governor, was granted a divorce Wednesday from Marshall Field IV, son of the Chicago publisher.

The decree was awarded by Judge John R. Goodnow in Hillsborough county superior court on grounds of cruelty.

The couple was married at East Walpole, Mass., in 1938 after Field's graduation from Harvard university. Mrs. Field is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Bass of Peterboro.

Field, whose father, Marshall Field, III, is editor and publisher of the Chicago Sun, is employed by that paper. He said he had "no comment whatsoever" on the divorce.

No announcement was made concerning custody of two children, Marshall V, 6, and Joanne, 5.

Award Contracts for $84,556 State Repair

Springfield, Ill., July 3—(AP)—The state architecture and engineering division has awarded contracts totaling $84,556 for improvements at four state institutions.

Contracts included general repair and miscellaneous allotments of $37,978. Southern Illinois Normal university at Carbondale; $9,050; Kankakee armory: $21,840. Illinois Eye and Ear Infirmary, Chicago, and $15,688 Madison street armory, Chicago.

Suburbanite Drowns as Dinghy Sinks in Lagoon

Chicago, July 3 —(AP)— Abe Barinholtz, 30, of Suburban Oak Park was drowned yesterday when his dinghy sank in the Gurnham park lagoon as he and two companions returned from a visit to his cabin cruiser.

His companions, Jean Long, 25, and Leo Cohen, 30, swam to shore and later were taken to St. Luke's hospital, suffering from shock.

Found Safe

Missing since last Sunday in rugged mountain country near Quincy, Calif., Greta Mary Gale, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gale, Jr., Oakland, Calif., was found by one of 100-man searching party. Hospital where the child was taken reports her condition as good. (NEA Telephoto)

Atomic Scar

Tetsuo Nakamura, a Hiroshima schoolboy who survived the 1945 atomic bomb explosion, displays scar on his arm which strangely resembles the A-bomb blast.

Murals in Brass

Boston—(AP)— Gloucester Artist Lawrence O'Toole is tucking away some sly humor in the murals he is painting as decorations for the First Naval District Officers' club.

They depict such early American scenes as the launching of the frigate Constitution and the Boston tea party, but the faces of some of the figures bear sharp resemblance to prominent Navy brass hats of this era. O'Toole was a chief in the Coast Guard during the war.

State Fair's Premium List Below '46 Array

Springfield, Ill., July 3—(AP)—Distribution of the 1947 Illinois state fair premium list detailing $284,614 in cash awards for ranking agricultural exhibits and contest winners began today.

Premiums shown in the 330-page booklet totaled $1,168 less than last year's record fair awards. The 1947 exposition will be held Aug. 8 to 17.

New Labor Law to Give Employers a Little More Power

Allows More Freedom in Speaking Views on Unionism

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, July 3 — (AP) — Here are some things the new labor law does to, or for, you if you're an employer.

Strikes—

If your union employes strike against you for any reason—except unfair labor practices by you—you can replace them with other workers.

An unfair labor practice would be something like this:

Your refusal to bargain with a a union which the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) has approved as bargaining agent for your employes.

New contracts—

If you want to change a contract, you must so notify the union 60 days before the contract ends.

Must Bargain in Good Faith

If a union wants to change a contract, such as to call for higher pay, it must notify you 60 days before the contract ends.

Within those 60 days you and the union are supposed to bargain in good faith in an effort to reach an agreement.

For those 60 days the union can't strike and you can't lock out the unionists, even though no agreement has been reached in that time.

If a union strikes within those 60 days, you can fire outright all the strikers. You can bring in strikebreakers, if only as temporary workers.

If a union strikes after the 60 days, you can't fire the strikers outright but what you can do amounts to the same thing because:

You can replace the strikers with permanent workers (not temporary ones like strikebreakers who are used only to break a strike).

But if, after making replacements with permanent workers, you still have jobs open, you must give them back to the strikers when the strike's over.

More Freedom of Speech

Freedom of Speech—

You can't threaten to fire a man if he joins a union or promise him something if he doesn't. That's part of the old law. It still stands.

But under the new law you are supposed to have more freedom of speech in telling employes what you think of unionism. How much freedom?

That will have to be decided—in time—by the NLRB and the courts on cases which eventually will come before them.

Under the old law the NLRB and the courts had to decide how much freedom of speech a boss had.

Plant Guards—

They can't belong to any union which includes other workers. But they can form their own union. You'll have to bargain with their union, if NLRB approves it.

Foremen—

A foremen's union has no standing under the law. You don't have to bargain with it.

Other Curbs on Unions

If foremen join a union of your other employes, any contract you sign with that union doesn't have to cover foremen.

You can fire a foreman for joining a union. When you pick a man to be a foreman, you can order him not to join a union.

Bargaining in good faith—

Suppose a union stall or otherwise doesn't bargain in good faith with you.

You can make charges of unfair labor practices against the union with NLRB. If NLRB has approved it as the bargaining agent for your employes.

Under the old law you had to bargain in good faith with a union. It could charge you with unfair labor practices if you stalled or refused to bargain.

You couldn't do that to a union. The old law didn't say a union had to bargain in good faith with you.

Checkoff System—

A checkoff system means a boss, through agreement with a union, deducts union members' dues from their paychecks and turns them over to the union.

Under the old law a union made that deal with you. Rather, the union officials did. The individual union member had no say-so about it.

From now on you can't checkoff dues from the paychecks of any worker unless he, himself, tells you in writing to do so.

The state of Washington is as large as all of New England plus Deleware.
